2 Nights 3 Days Royal Trek

The Royal Trek is a short and easy trek in the Annapurna region of Nepal, suitable for beginners and families with children. It offers stunning views of the mountains, passes through ethnic villages, and covers a distance of around 35 km in 3-4 days. It is a great way to experience the beauty of the Himalayas without undergoing a challenging trek.

Highlights of the Royal Trek Nepal

1. Pokhara is a seven-hour beautiful drive away.
2. This path is known as the Royal Trek since it was originally hiked by the Prince of Wales in 1980.
3. Beautiful mountain vistas include Annapurna South, Himchuli, Lamjung Himal, Manaslu, Fishtail, and Annapurna II, III, and IV.
4. Low-altitude hiking and easy walking
5. The rural Nepalese way of life and the traditional farming method.
6. Trek through the Annapurna Conservation Area Project's beautiful, thick woods (ACAP).
7. Take a walk on the new paths and enjoy the peacefulness of this journey.

Day 1: Pokhara to Kalikasthan to Syaklung (1760 m)

After having breakfast in the morning, a private vehicle will pick us up from our hotel. We will then head to Kalikasthan from where we begin our trek. We follow the trail to a ridge from where we can see the magnificent view of Lamjung and Annapurna Mountain range. We traverse some paddy fields and cross a river to reach Syaklung (1760 m) where we spend the night at a lodge. The hike to Syaklung is a merely 5 hours.

Day 2: Trek Syaklung to Chisapani (1,550m)

We start our trekking early in the morning and walk through the traditional Gurung villages where we will explore their culture. Hiking further ahead, you will reach an area filled with green vegetation along with rhododendron and pine trees. After walking for 6 hours, we will arrive at Chisapani (1550m), where we will spend the night.
